

I'm completely against the federal government weakening Wisconsin's no call list. It is one of the best things that has ever happened to prevent consumer harassment. Why does the federal government say they are for state's rights and then try to overrule a law that has the support of virtually everyone in Wisconsin. State's rights unless big business wants something is more like it. Please stand up for us consumers and for state's rights.
Thank you for your consideration.
